Church Family,

Recently, I was contacted by a young pastor friend of mine in Malawi, Africa named Paul Namfuko (Nam'fook'o). He shared with me about a recent flooding event and high winds that they had in Malawi. Paul's mother-in-law's home received damaged, the homes of several members of their church, and the church building itself sustained damaged. Paul is using this as an opportunity to share the gospel of Christ. Tragedy is really nothing new to Malawians. Most of their lives are affected by tragedy of disease, hunger, and poverty. However, the believers there are encouraged by faithful pastors, like Paul, to see this to "work together for good for those who love God, to those who are the called according to His purpose".

That's what we are called to do. We are called to move forward and advance the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. You may not see the "good" right away or soon. You may not see the good at all in your lifetime, but remember God is working it for good and that's all that we need to see right then. You do not have to look far to find a tragic situation. Really, we can find people within Silo Baptist Church that have been affected by tragedy in one way or another. What we need to do is be sensitive to the needs of others around us. God has blessed us all in some way to reach out and show mercy to others that are in true need. Let's seek to do just that.

Grace to You,
YOUR Pastor
